CITY SCHOOL FUND SHOWS A DEFICIT

NOT ENOUGH MONEY ON HAND TO PAY MONTH'S BILLS

SITUATION UNUSUAL ONE

Maryville's Total Enrollment Is 1,083, Superintendent Reports; 897 Are In the Public Schools

Something is going to have to be done about the school finance situation in Maryville, members of the school board are convinced since the meeting of the board Saturday night. The H. C. L. what with advanced salaries and increased expenses in general, caused the board to pay only part of the $C,600 presented in bills for the first month of school. The board found that it had only $4,800 on hand to pay the bills with. The salary bills of $3,000 for teachers and janitors were allowed, as was a coal bill of $1,000 owed to the mines. All other bills were held over to next month.

This situation is unusual, according to members of the board. Ordinarily enough money is on reserve, with the state money coming in, to run the schools the first part of the year, until the taxes begin to come in. This reserve generally is left over from the end of school in June. The state money, figuring to about $7,000, is not in yet, and it will help the situation somewhat, but probably not enough to square matters until January.

The total coal bill thus far is $2,750, which accounts for 500 of the 600 tons needed to put the schools through the winter. This item, of course, will not reappear in the bills.

The limit on taxation is just about reached in Maryville. One ray of hope remaining is to vote a tax of 10 or 15 cents for a building and repair fund. At present this money comes out of the general fund. It amounts often to $2,000 a year. It cost $300 to paint the roof of the Washington school building last year. At present a small levy is voted for the work on the Douglas school building, now in course of construction.

No serious trouble of this sort has been experienced before, and the school board is not yet decided just how to face it. Although the income has been increased as a result of increased valuations, the expenditures have made a much greater increase. On the one item of salaries alone the bills last year were $500 a month less, according to a member of the board.

The appointment of Frank Cooper as engineer at the Washington school building has been confirmed. Miss Jessie Roberts of St. Joseph was formally elected as teacher of history and mathematics in the high school at the meeting of the board Saturday.

According to the report of Superintendent J. M. McDonald for the first month of school, which was read at the meeting, it costs the city $5.79 a month to educate each pupil in the high school. According to Mr. McDonald, this should set at rest complaints made that the tuition fee for out-of-town students is too high. The fee is $5 for the high school and $3 a month for the grades. Eighty-two non-resident pupils are enrolled in the high school and six in the grades.

The enrollment of the first month on the various grades in Maryville is as follows:

Franklin	53
Garfield	67
Jefferson	88
Douglas	21
Washington grades	345
High School	320
Public School Total	897
College Park School	61
St. Mary's	56
St. Patrick's	69
Maryville Total	1083

The average per cent of attendance for the 897 enrolled in the public schools was 98.2 for the first month. The number tardy was 69. Those neither tardy nor absent numbered 555.

Sixteen pupils, or five per cent. of the Washington grades are ahead of their normal classes. Thirty-four, or 10 per cent, are retarded. Part of this last figure is caused by the operation of the compulsory attendance law, which has put several back in school who have been out for several years.

The Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association will meet in Maryville October 23, 24 and 25 this year. School will be dismissed Friday and Saturday, the twenty-third and twenty-fourth, so that the local teachers may attend.

3 DRAINAGE CASES UP IN COURT TODAY

INCORPORATIONS ARE ORDERED ON ALL APPLICATIONS

HARD FIGHT AGAINST ONE

Dale Marsh Pleads Guilty to Disturbing the Peace and Is Fined $1; New Citizen Is Made

Today was drainage case day in the Nodaway County circuit court and the incorporators won all the way through. This morning the case of the Jackson Township Drainage district came up. After the evidence was heard, a decree for the incorporation as per form filed was entered on the docket. The Chicago Great Western Railway had filed objections.

The first thing this afternoon the Washington Township drainage district was ordered incorporated. No objectors were listed.

DuBois & Miller of Grant City were the attorneys for the incorporation.

The big argument, however, came up in the case of the Andrew-Nodaway drainage district on the Platte River. The Chicago Great Western also is objecting in this case, but the main objections were made by W. P. Jackson, E. M. Jones and Charles Jackson. The incorporation was ordered. A motion for a new trial was denied. A motion for an arrest of judgment was denied. An application for an appeal to the Supreme Court was denied.

According to Judge John M. Dawson, who gave the opinion in the case, there is no provision for an appeal in a case of this kind. Not until the district reaches out to include new lands or does something to damage property by the construction of the ditch can an appeal be taken.

Business was light in court this morning, the discussion on the drainage case occupying most of the time. Dale Marsh, against whom there was a charge of disturbing the peace, appeared in court, withdrew his plea of not guilty, pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs.

Saturday afternoon Sheriff John F. Dowden filed his report of the sale in the partition suit of Florence Moon vs. Frances Workman and others. In the divorce suit of Ralph Mountford vs. Leona Mountford, the defendant filed an affidavit and a motion for temporary alimony, also an answer and a cross bill.

In the perfect title suit of Charles W. Shinabargar vs. Lewis Copple and others, a decree was given vesting the title in the plaintiff as per form filed. A. F. Harvey was appointed attorney for the unknown defendants.

Rudolph Neidel, whose petition for citizenship was taken under advisement Friday, today was admitted to citizenship, making two out of four applicants to be accepted.

Less Than Half an Inch of Rain.

Mrs. R. G. Sanders and daughter, Marion, returned to their home in St. Joseph yesterday morning after a visit with the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Costello, and other relatives.

Miss Martha Jones and her niece, Miss Sarah Jones, Santa Ana, Calif., who have been spending several months here, went to St. Joseph this morning for the day. They will leave Thursday morning for their home in California.

TOURISTS HERE WEDNESDAY WILL TALK OF GOOD ROADS

Band Will Furnish Music at Meeting Open to All; Start Made From Kansas City Today

The gospel of good roads—hard-surfaced roads—rather than the sale of motor cars, will be the chief reason for the visit of the Kansas City Victory tourists to Maryville Wednesday night. A program will be given in the circuit court room at the court house, starting at 8 o'clock, to which all are invited. A 16-piece band will accompany the tourists and will furnish music for the meeting. The tourists also will furnish the speakers. All Maryville is asked to furnish is the crowd.

The tour started from Kansas City this morning and will occupy all of the week. Forty touring cars and twenty-five trucks are in the procession, and between 100 and 135 persons make up the party. They will arrive in Maryville at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening and will leave for St. Joseph at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

GREEN TOWNSHIP HAS PLACE IN NODAWAY DISPLAY HERE

Apples and Corn Are Brought Here From the Quitman Celebration; Other Popcorn Also Shown

Green township is now well represented in the Nodaway County display case in the office of the Maryville Commercial Club, as a result of the celebration at Quitman last week. Harve England brought to Maryville several of the exhibits, and they now occupy places of honor.

There are two exhibits of Wolf River apples from the farm of Frank Boring. One of these apples measures 13 inches in circumference. George Sharp has some good examples of Grimes Golden an Jonathans.

Several ears of mammoth white rice popcorn from Charles Miller and some ears of white cap corn from Dick Brown complete the Green township exhibit, which compares favorably with any of the other exhibits in the cases.

Mr. England also has two new exhibits of his own: one of several ears of baby golden popcorn and one of several ears of large Nebraska field corn.

BAPTIST REVIVAL STARTS OUT WITH CROWDS, DESPITE RAIN

Rev. G. E. Kennedy Proves Popular; Afternoon Cottage Prayer Meeting in Several Parts of the City.

Rev. G. E. Kennedy, evangelist, preached at the Baptist church yesterday both morning and evening. In spite of the rain there was a good crowd at both revival services.

Much interest is being manifested already in the meetings. Rev. Mr. Kennedy preaches straight from the shoulder; he calls black, black, and white, white. He does not mince matters, but speaks straight out what he considers the truth.

Sunday morning and Sunday night he preached from the text: "And Jesus seeing their faith, saith to the sick of the palsy: 'Son, thy sins are forgiven thee.'" Mark 2:10.

In his talk he showed that a revival was not something mysterious but that if the church wanted one it could have one. "While God's children must depend on the Holy Spirit for everything, they must use the means God had provided if they expected to see the church revived and sinners converted," he declared.

There is nothing spectacular about Evangelist Kennedy but there is a marked earnestness and intensity that characterizes all successful evangelists.

Cottage prayer meetings will be carried on at 2:30 p. m. this week in all parts of the city. The services at night will begin at 8 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hartwell of Frankfort, Kan., are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. M. E. Farrar. They are enroute home from a visit with a daughter in Pittsburg, Pa.

PRESIDENT SLEEPING TODAY; RESTLESS NIGHT REPORTED

Doctor Grayson Is Constantly With Him; No Assistance Is Expected to be Called in Washington Sept. 29. — "President passed a restless night, but is sleeping this morning—Grayson." This bulletin was issued by the president's personal physician at 11 o'clock today. It was understood that the president got virtually no sleep during the night and Doctor Grayson was with him constantly. Published reports that specialists were to be called in are without confirmation at the White House. It was intimated that the president's condition was not so serious as to necessitate the calling in of assistance for Doctor Grayson.

BOTH SIDES TODAY CLAIMING GAINS IN THE STEEL STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 21. — The second week of the steel strike started today with both sides claiming progress which will insure ultimate victory. Substantial gains appear to have been made in the steel interests over the week end, the gains being principally made through the western Pennsylvania district where several mills in Donora, New Castle, McKee's Port and Pittsburgh proper, which were forced to close last week, resumed operations today. The strike was extended to the Bethlehem plants and reports indicate a number of employes are out at the company's principal plants, but that sufficient loyal employes remained at work to continue operations in all departments. Outside of Pennsylvania there is little change in the situation. The mills at Youngstown remain closed down.

Columbus, O., Sept. 29.—The entire state guard of Ohio was today assembling in the state armories in readiness for any emergency that may arise as a result of the threatened march of Ohio steel strikers from Steubenville into West Virginia at Wierton, despite the fact that plans for the march have been called off by strike leaders there.

Bankers Meet in St. Louis.

Among the topics which will be discussed at the convention will be: "Taxation," which will deal with the problems resulting from extensive tax exemptions; "The Railroad Problem," of especial importance because railroad bonds amounting to more than $850,000,000 are held by the banks of the country; and "Amortization of Mortgage Bonds."

OMAHA MOB TRIES TO HANG MAYOR

LYNCH NEGRO PRISONER

Partial Destruction of New Court House Also Results From Successful Attempt on the Jail

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 29.—Mayor Smith, victim of an angry mob that put a rope around his neck and dragged him through the streets Sunday afternoon when he refused to order a negro prisoner charged with assaulting a young white woman turned over to mob. He is reported much improved at nine o'clock this morning and is believed by physicians that he is out of danger. The attack on the mayor incident in the night of lawless terror in which two were killed and 39 injured and the court house costing a million and a half was gutted by fire.

The woman's assaulter was hanged to the trolley poles. Conditions are quieter this morning. Federal troops reinforce the police.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT CALLS STRIKE SITUATION IMPROVED

But Traffic Is Completely Stopped and a Million Are Idle; Food Distribution Is Better

London, Sept. 29.—Although the national railway strike has traffic completely stopped, and it is estimated that nearly a million workers have been thrown into idleness, the government today claimed that the situation was improved. The following official statement has been issued from the premier's official residence: "Situation improved, food distribution working smoothly." The charge that the government represents vested interests was made by the Herald, an organ of the labor party, in answering Lloyd George's declaration that the strike was an "anarchist conspiracy." The first disorder reported since the strike began is in a Glasgow dispatch to the London Globe. It said an attempt had been made to loot the Haymarket yards but that the police had repulsed the gangsters.

Weather for Today

STORAGE OF VEGETABLES IS ADVISABLE BFFORE A FROST

Department of Agriculture Recommends Simple, Inexpensive Method For Keeping Them Outdoors

Washington, Sept. 29.—Jack Frost soon will kill most of the tender garden crops, even in the south, and home gardeners are advised not to delay in caring for vegetables now in the garden.

A storage cellar or outdoor pit is, of course, the most desirable place to store vegetables, but not every home gardener has a storage cellar or pit at his disposal and some simple and inexpensive method must be provided. A very effective storage, recommended by the United States department of agriculture may be made by partially burying a wooden box or a large barrel on its side in a well drained spot in the garden. Irish potatoes, carrots, parsnips, salsify, turnips, beets and winter radishes can be stored in this manner. Cabbage, as a rule, can be stored to best advantage by burying it in the ground, while celery can be placed in a trench and covered with boards and straw or leaves, with an outer layer of soil to keep out frost. Sweet potatoes should always be stored in a warm, dry place, such as a room over the kitchen where there will be plenty of both heat and ventilation.

If no cellar or storage pit is available, a temporary storage should be provided at once, and the various vegetables that are adapted to storage should be cared for before it gets cold enough to injure them. Full information regarding the storage of garden vegetables is contained in the department of agriculture Farmers' Bulletin No. 879, "Home Storage of Vegetables," which will be sent free on application. The horticultural departments of the state agricultural colleges also have valuable bulletins and circulars on the home storage of vegetables.

Observer Belden of St. Joseph has set October 12 as the date of the first hard frost in the vicinity of Maryville.

And He Paid For Water!

Pittsburg, Sept. 29.—For 110 cases of dirty river water, $5,500. That's what Louis Petrussi paid to sharpwitted individuals here and for whom the law officers are now looking. Petrussi, who lives in a neighboring city, came to Pittsburgh to buy contraband liquor. He was taken in hand by the sharpers and led to an abandoned wholesale shop. Here he was given a sample of some of the very best brand of whiskey and was told all the cases he saw contained more of the same. Unsuspecting Petrussi paid over the cash. After hauling the load home in a truck Petrussi discovered his "watered" stock.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which acts on the catarrh germs in the blood.

Aged "Tiger" of France in Great Speech Defending Peace Treaty

Paris, Sept. 26.—Premier Clemenceau's remarkable address in the chamber of deputies yesterday in which he asked for the ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany was made on his seventy-eighth birthday. If there was an impression that his words on the previous day during his colloquy with M. Barthou were a slight on America the way he spoke of the "admirable impetuosity with which America fung men into the battlefields" showed that no slight was intended.

Applause rang through the chamber when the permier said: "Would you know my complete thoughts? Should there be no written treaty, I would count on America all the same. I can say we are firmly counting on the adoption of the treaty over there."

M. Clemenceau admitted that the treaty contained many imperfections, but said it was the culmination of the work of "the coalition of liberation," the first of its sort in the history of the world, as the treaty was the dawn of a new era. He recalled the dark days of 1917, and declared to the opponents of the treaty that if a peace proposal had been received then, returning Alsace and Lorraine to France, no Frenchman would have demanded the insertion of any other clause, but would have accepted it.

The treaty brought back more than the lost provinces; it places France on the highest pinnacle of fame and honor, and it in a few years would bring prosperity.

Those who spoken in the debate, the premier pointed out, had criticized the details of the treaty, which must be considered accepted or rejected as a whole, whether the instrument was helpful or harmful to France. The treaty was "the ensemble of possibilities" which was worth what the future ruling classes of France would make it by their labor.

The premier's effort was tremendous. He remained on the tribune for more than two hours. Many times he seemed to weaken, his voice becoming so low as to be almost inaudible beyond the first row of government benches. But he waved off the advice from all quarters of the chamber of "rest" and doggedly continued to display his indominitable spirit. He passed lightly over the criticism, which has been prominent in the debate, that the French language is not the official language of the treaty, saying:

"It is not my fault if the English language is spoken by nearly two-thirds of the civilized world."

Premier Clemenceau said that if he had any word to send the United States senate it would be that it hurry the ratification of the treaty.

Alluding to the entry of the United States into the war the premier said France might count upon America in time of peace as well as in war.

Replying to criticism of the treaty, M. Clemenceau said the league of nations was not as perfect as President Wilson would have desired but that he (Clemenceau) had no criticisms to offer.

If Germany had not declared war, the premier asserted during his remarks, she would have Germanized the whole world.

The socialists in the chamber, where there was a full attendance of the deputies, protested violently at this assertion.

The premier read documents showing that Great Britain came spontaneously to the help of France without being bound by any military accord.

M. Clemenceau eulogized the American army. The war, he said, could not have been won without its aid.

COMMITTEES STILL AT WORK INVESTIGATING THE WAR

NO TROUBLE FOUND YET

And Meanwhile the Expenses Go On and May Exceed Estimates; One Group Is Still In Europe

Washington, Sept. 29. — After an existence of nearly three and one-half months it now appears as if the much-heralded Graham select committee to investigate war expenditures has little or no standing in the estimation of the Republican leaders of the house of representatives. Within the next few weeks a part of their work will be either duplicated or taken away from them.

The committee popularly known as the "smallers," who are seeking Republican campaign material for 1920 in the methods used by the Democratic national administration in winning the world war has divided itself into five "smelling" sub-committees in order to more easily to run down the elusive "scandal." These latter committees have had varying careers, one is recuperating in Paris after the battle of the Seine, won by General John J. Pershing, U. S. A.; another is junketing on the Pacific coast in search of spruce "scandals," and the others appear to have fallen into the slough of despond. This latter class includes the sub-committee on camps and cantonments.

They Leave on Inspection.

At any rate, nine of ten members of the house standing committee on military affairs are leaving this week for a little trip of inspection of four cantonments in the south. There appears to be no question but that the information they are seeking falls directly under the jurisdiction of the Graham subcommittee on camps and cantonments. Which means that the treasury may be compelled to pay for duplicated work, as this expedition is likely to galvanize into action the Graham sub-"smellers."

The detachment from the military affairs committee plans to visit Camps Humphrey, Virginia; Bragg, North Carolina; Benning, Georgia; and Knox, Kentucky. Early in the special session the house Republicans passed a resolution forbidding the war department utilizing unexpended funds appropriated for the construction of cantonments, and this sub-committee will tour the south to see whether this resolution should be abrogated. Incidentally ,this trip is being taken at a time when the Graham sub-committee on camps and cantonments was preparing to do the same thing.

Nothing to Show, It Is Said.

The Republican mountain has labored for three and one-half months and has not so much as a mouse to show the American public, Democratic leaders assert, despite confident predictions of "enormous extravagance," "wilful waste," "gross mismanagement" and everything else the specially engaged press agent of the Republican national committee had prophesied. The Graham committee is spending the people's money at the "moderate estimate" of $10,000 a month so far, and has nothing to show for it. And now comes along another committee, also of Republican inception, to do the work the Graham subs have failed to do.

The Graham committee was created June 11 and spent but $163.30 that month. "It was some time afterwards when they got momentum," as it was described before the house appropriations sub-committee by William Tyler page, clerk of the house and its disbursing officer. From July 1 to September 5 the Graham committee's expenditures and estimates for the European and Pacific coast trips total $18,546.

For the same period the select committee to investigate the shipping board expenditures spent $1,200. With a deficiency appropriation of $60,000 Mr. Page thought the Graham and shipping committees could be financed up to January 1, his estimate being based on the July and August figures quoted.

May Not Cover Expenses.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, Democrat, doubted whether the estimates would actually cover the expenses of the "smellers" in France and on the Pacific coast, not a voucher for either of these excursions having been turned in.

Questions by Mr. Byrns extracted some interesting information from the clerk of the house. The Graham committee so far has this permanent staff:

1 clerk at..... $3,000 per annum
1 clerk at..... 2,500 per annum
2 clerks at..... 2,000 per annum
1 clerk at..... 50 per week
1 stenog. at..... 1,800 per year
1 stenog. at..... 1,600 per year

This does not mean that all the subcommittees have engaged clerks and stenographers as yet. Neither does it include a lengthy list of investigators who received from $10 to more than $100 a day. This salary list totals at the rate of $15,100 a year, or $1,258 plus a month, leaving a balance of some $8,750 a month, according to the estimate, to carry on the travels of the European, Pacific and other tourists of both war and shipping committees up to January 10.

Three Congressmen in Europe.

Three representatives are in Europe accompanied by six others— an attorney, a clerk, a stenographer, a deputy sergeant-at-arms and two others whose identity seems veiled.

The select committee on shipping board expenditures had not rendered any vouchers up to September 5, but Mr. Page was advised they had designated a clerk at $200 a month and a public accountant, or investigator, at $750 a month. This committee is also on the Pacific coast for an extensive trip.

Judging by progress todate the Democratic leaders can see no indication that the Graham or shipping board committees will finish their work by January 1, and consequently they expect to see a request for another large amount in due time.

MRS. SANFORD'S MESSAGE TO WORKING WOMEN

Laurel, Miss. — "Eight years ago I was suffering with pains and weakness caused by a female trouble. I had headaches, chills and fevers, and was unable to do my work part of the time. Lydia E. "WONDERFUL," SAYS MRS. M. KIRKLAND

Was So Run Down at Times She Couldn't Walk — Gains Twenty Pounds by Taking Tanlac

Mrs. Mattie Kilrkland, a highly esteemed resident of 2547 Benton Boulevard, Kansas City, Missouri, called at the Owl Drug Store recently and made the remarkable statement that she has not only gained twenty pounds in weight by the use of seven bottles of Tanlac, but that the medicine has also relieved her of a case of nervous indigestion that had made life miserable for her for three years.

When asked if she would be willing for her statement to be published, Mrs. Kirkland said:

"Yes, indeed, for if it had not been for others allowing the news of their recovery published I would not have known about Tanlac and would still be a sick woman. So I feel that I ought to make a statement myself and try to benefit someone else. During those three years everything I ate disagreed with me. My appetite was so poor that I seldom felt like eating and I would suffer for hours after every meal from the gas on my stomach. My head ached all the time and I often got so nervous and dizzy that I would have to lay down. I lost weight until I got down to only one hundred and ten pounds and my house work was a burden to me. I was so run down and weak that I could not walk at times, and while I used most everything I heard of nothing did me any good.

"I read so many testimonails for Tanlac given by our own Kansas City people ,and their statements sounded so sincere, that I made up my mind to try the medicine myself. So I bought a bottle and I finished taking it there was such a wonderful change in my condition that I got another, then another and so on until now I have used seven bottles and the results have been nothing less than wonderful. I can eat just anything without the least trouble afterwards, and my appetite was never better. My nerves are perfectly calm and I sleep every night just like a child. In fact, I am feeling as strong and well as I did before my troubles started three years ago, and I have actually gained twenty pounds in weight. I know for myself that Tanlac is wonderful and I can't praise it too highly for what it has done for me."

Farmers Would Be Represented at the White House Conference

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—Delegates to the convention of Zone 4 of the Mississippi Valley Association, just before adjournment here, adopted, after vigorous debate, a resolution calling on President Wilson to give the farmers of the country equal representation with labor at the economic conference called by the president for October 6.

The resolution was a substitute for another drafted by R. A. Bowen of Paris, Texas, and presented by Bowen to the directors of the association earlier in the day. The directors decided they had no authority to adopt and Bowen was instructed to submit it to the convention. Opportunity to do this was not afforded until just before adjournment, when many of the delegates had left for home.

When Bowen finally was able to present the resolution several of the members, including Charles Sutter of St. Louis, and S. E. Faxon of De Moines, said the delegates present were too few to pass on such an important question. They recommended that the resolution be forwarded to New Orleans to the general officers, who had just left the convention for that city.

This aroused a protest from Bowen and also from John A. Simpson of Oklahoma, another representative of the farmers. Bowen said the delegates were "dilly-dallying," and Simpson said they were "passing the buck."

Bowen objected to his resolution being referred to by other delegates as the "so-called Bowen resolution." He said it was prepared by farmers.

He said the resolutions which he had presented, and all of which it was proposed to forward to New Orleans, would not get there in time.

Simpson interposed:

"As an example of passing the buck you fellows beat the politicians. Surely your aren't as timid as this. We farmers have got a nationwide fight on our hands to get the president to recognize us. A labor union would say, 'You've got to give 'em to us or we'll strike.' I could get a labor union convention or a convention of preachers to pass those resolutions. We've not come here only to shake hands, but to get some help."

Sutter suggested that the president already had appointed an additional delegation and had named several farmers in it. Bowen protested that the new delegates to the Washington conference were editors, millers and manufacturers. Some one suggested that one of the men was a good expert who had been helping Hoover.

"That's against him," Simpson said.

Bowen said to send the resolutions to New Orleans was to send them to a "graveyard."

Sutter finally seconded Simpson's motion to adopt the substitute resolution, which omitted any criticism of President Wilson as slighting the farmers, and it was adopted without dissent.

Bowen moved later that the zone go on record in favor of American seamen manning ships plying from gulf ports, and this also was adopted. All other motions were forwarded to the general officers at New Orleans, where Zone 1 is holding its convention.

What Bulk Storage Means to YOU

ONE of the major services which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders you, is to maintain at all times, at convenient points throughout the territory it serves, large storage tanks filled with gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils for quick delivery to you when you need them.

Assume for a moment what would happen if severe weather or unforeseen transportation conditions should cut off deliveries from the refinery for a week, and that no appreciable surplus was available.

You would walk for your groceries. Your physician would be slow in arriving in case of sickness. Business generally would suffer through inability to make deliveries.

In a word, unless the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a tremendous surplus in the field at all times your domestic and commercial welfare would be jeopardized.

This vast storage of 156,528,950 gallons is but a single cog in the giant wheel of usefulness which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates in discharging its obligations as a public servant in a manner satisfactory and beneficial to all.

UNCLE DICK JONES BURIED; FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Newark, Ohio, Paper Gives Account of His Life. Was Born in Wales in 1834; Lived Here for 38 Years

Funeral services for R. D. Jones of Maryville, who died last Wednesday in Ohio, were held at the residence, 910 East Third street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Dr. Gilbert S. Cox of the First Methodist church conducted the services. Burial was in the Miriam cemetary. The pallbearers were S. H. Kemp, John Airy, Harry Harrison, Ames Sprecher, G. A. VanSteenburgh and W. A. Tindall.

The following account of Uncle Dick's life is taken from the American Tribune of Newark, Ohio, the city where he died, and gives several facts that were unobtainable here when the news was first received:

Mr. R. D. Jones died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Simpson, 45 Linden avenue at 5:15 a. m. Wednesday morning. Mr. Jones had come from his home in Maryville, Mo., to attend the G. A. R. reunion in Columbus and the intense heat was too much for his advanced age and he succumbed to the grim reaper in less than two weeks.

He was born in Wales, June 16, 1834, coming to this country while an infant, settling in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he lived until 1878, when he removed with his family to Utica, Ohio. Later he removed to Maryville, Mo., where he has lived for 38 years.

Mr. Jones was twice married, his first wife dying in 1874. Of this union there were born six children, five of whom survive. Sam C. Jones of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. George Diss of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. J. Hugh Spivy, of Tulsa, and Fred W. Jones, of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Lucy Simpson, in whose home he passed away. His present wife, to whom he was married in 1881, was with him and together with his childdren mourn the loss of a kind husband and a loving father.

Short funeral services will be held at the home, 45 Linden avenue at 2:30 on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Hazlett officiating. The G. A. R. will have charge of the services. The body, accompanied by his wife and son, Sam C. Jones will leave for his home in Maryville, Thursday night, where the body will be laid to rest.

Mr. Jones was of a strong religious nature and had been identified with the Methodist church since 1872, when he was converted under the great Moody. He was fearless in his denunciation of the liquor traffic and exposed himself on a number of occasions to the murderous attacks of those whose business he denounced. He was a pioneer in the great temperance reform in Missouri. His death will be a great loss to the community in which he lived so many years, being lovingly known by everyone as "Uncle Dick."—Newark American Tribune.

Plane Will Go Straight Up.

New York, Sept. 29.—The model of an areoplane which will rise vertically, is being exhibited at the rooms of the Aeronautical Society here by W. J. Beach, an inventor. The fundamental principle of Mr. Beach's invention is that it is lifted straight up from the ground by means of revolving aerofoils rotated from their outer perphery. Horizontal and longitudinal stability are assured by revolving alerons and stabilizers. Because of the revolutionary effect such a plane would have on the airplane market, the exhibit is attracting more than passing attention.

Would Disown the Eagle.

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Sept. 29.—The eagle, time-honored symbol of the United States, will be discarded and the Goddess of Liberty substituted for it, if Congress harkens to the complaint of the Rev. C. F. Potter, of the Unitarian church. "The eagle is first cousin to the vulture, and retires screaming to its crag to gorge itself in isolation," deposed Mr. Potter. "The Goddess of Liberty would be a fitter symbol of America. Her torch is for Liberty, while the eagle stands for liberty without responsibility."

Razor Strop Saves Life.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 29.—A small pocket razor strop is the cherished souvenir of the great war on display here. The owner, J. A. Sheffner, local business man, received it recently from his son, Camden Sheffner, who is now on his way here from France. Young Sheffner claims that the strop saved his life in the battle of the Aisne, near Prismes. Carrying it in his breast pocket, the strop deflected a Hun bullet sufficiently to cause only a slight wound instead of a fatal one.

Would Restrict Packers' Operations.

St. Louis, Sept.25.—Resolutions urging on congress the necessity of legislation restricting the operations of packers to handling of meats and by-products were adopted at the closing session of the convention of the National Retail Tea and Coffee Merchants' Association here. The resolution expressed fear that if the packers were not controlled they would soon have a monopoly on all foodstuffs. New York was chosen as the next convention city.

A Fisherman Tells This.

Waynesboro, Pa., Sept. 29.—A local angler has discovered a snake with two heads. The snake has two distinct and well formed heads, separated at the neck, and each is perfect in tongue, eyes, fangs and shape. While fishing for live bait, S. E. Fitz was attacked by a large water snake. He struck the assailant with the pole of his net and killed it. After taking it to the shore he dissected it and released twenty-nine baby snakes among which was the freak.

BIBLE CLASS HAS ARRANGED TO BRING NOTED MOVIE HERE

Nazimova, in "Toys of Fate" Will Appear at the Electric Wednesday and Thursday, This Week

The men's Bible class of the First Christian church has arranged to bring to the motion picture attendants of Maryville one of the greatest pictures that has ever been shown here—Nazimova, the Russian actress, in "Toys of Fate" — Wednesday and Thursday, October 1 and 2.

It was said of Nazimova, when her noted play of "Revelation" was screened, that she never would be able to outclass it, but critics today say that she surpasses this superb play. "Toys of Fate" will be her masterpiece, it is though.

Nazimova was born in Russian Crimea, and comes to the screen with the love of her people in her heart. She portrays the story of a child of nature brought into the ways of civilization.

The class will show this picture at the Electric theatre, two matinees and two shows each day.

THE man who has a store and doesn't advertise it is very much like the fellow who was accused by everybody of hiding his light under a bushel basket. He swaggered around for a while, until some curious person up-ended the basket.

THERE WAS NO LIGHT UNDERNEATH IT.

Everybody believes in advertising. The value of the newspaper ad as a trade-booster today needs neither illustration nor argument. Hence the merchant who fails to advertise presumably has nothing to advertise. It is to be presumed that he has no advantages in service over his competitor, no lower prices, no better quality, no more favorable location, no more courteous and obliging clerks, no more initiative, no more enthusiasm, no more "pep"—in other words, nothing that will attract customers to his store.

PLAN GIVING HAND GRENADES FOR BANKS IS CALLED OFF

War Department Cancels Its Arrangements to Furnish Them to the Treasury Department

The savings organization of the Tenth Federal Reserve district has just been informed by the treasury department that the secretary of war, decided that hand grenades converted into savings banks should not be sent broadcast throughout the country, has canceled its arrangements to furnish grenades to the treasury department.

Although more than 300,000 of these grenades had been sold to the banks in the Tenth district, the children who have entered into the savings plans during their vacation, must content themselves with certificates of appreciation issued by the treasury department for their services. These certificates are being prepared in Washington and will be issued by the savings organization.

The war department gave its approval of the grenade distribution several weeks ago. Its recent decision comes as a surprise, but was evidently made on account of complaints made that the grenades might become a menace to the safety of children and families owing to the possibility of again converting them into dangerous weapons.

Her Hubby Drank Vanilla.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 29.—Because Andrew P. Goodwin was alleged to have been addicted to the "vanilla jag," Mrs. Ida P. Goodwin was granted a decree of divorce in Judge York's court here. One witness testified after Goodwin vacated a house he had rented in San Pedro, a bushel of empty vanilla bottles was left behind. "Was Mr. Goodwin in any business which would require the use of vanilla?" inquired Mrs. Goodwin's attorney of the witness. "He was not," was the reply. Mrs. Goodwin also charged her hubasnd with desertion and non-support.

No More Salary Advances.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—"That's a good fellow, lend me five," may be heard frequently around the Chicago city hall hereafter, unless city employes learn the thrift lesson which City Treasurer Henry Stuckart is going to teach them. Hereafter the city will make no more salary advances to its employes. According to Stuckart, about fifteen per cent of the employes at present collect nothing but I. O. U.'s when the bi-monthly payday rolls around. They recently received an increase in pay, and Stuckart says they should get along without borrowing. Anyhow, they will have to as far as the city is concerned.

They Stole From Court House.

Steubenville, O., Sept. 29. — "Next thing you know they'll want to run a crap game in the court house." This was the comment of Sheriff W. T. Baker when he learned that thieves in broad daylight had stolen a complete gambling outfit from its storage place in the basement of the court house, where it was being held as evidence following a raid.

Some Personal Questions Will Be Asked at Farm Census in January

But Don't Get Irritated About It. Advises Department of Agriculture; Every Question Asked by Enumerator Will Have a Direct Bearing On the Personal Welfare and Prosperity of the Individual Farmer.

When the census enumerator comes around to the farm shortly after January 1 next year, he will ask some questions that may sound like prying into the purely personal affairs of the farmer. Now the farmer, like every other self-respecting man, dislikes having his private affairs peeped into and, unless he thinks about this thing in advance, may have a disposition to be unresponsive, if not actually resistant.

In actual fact, every question that the enumerator will ask is an essential question and has a direct bearing on the personal welfare and prosperity of the individual farmer as well as upon the advancement of the agriculture of the nation as a whole.

When the bureau of the census decided to take the farm census in January instead of in April, it did so upon the advice of the United States department of agriculture. The farmer is less likely to be very busy in January than at the spring planting and breeding season, and his products and live stock are in better shape for statistical treatment. Also, every new question—and there are a number of them—inserted in the agricultural schedule was placed there after consultation with the department of agriculture and for the purpose of clearing up some specific situation in which the department of agriculture is trying to aid the farmer.

Here are some questions that will be asked: "Do you own all this farm?" "Do you rent from others a part but not all of this farm?" "Do you rent from others all of this farm?" "If you rent all of this farm, what do you pay as rent?" "If you own all or part of this farm, was there any mortgage debt or other encumbrance on the land so owned on January 1, 1920?" "What was the total amount of debt or encumbrance on land on this farm owned by you, January 1, 1920?"

Pertinent—Not Impertinent.

"What the Sam Hill" you may inquire, "has the government got to do with how much money I owe on my land?" Well, two of the things to which the department of agriculture has been giving deepest thought during the past several years are farm tenancy and rural credits. The past three censuses have shown an increase in the number of tenants. Alarmists have felt—and said—that the country is going to the bow-wows by the landlord route. The department of agriculture has looked, however, into the matter as well as it was able and refused to be alarmed. Where it was able to make surveys it discovered that while the number of tenants 25 years old was greater in 1910 of 1890, the number of tenants 45 years old was considerably smaller in 1910 than in 1900 or 1890.

The inference is that tenancy is a step toward ownership, that the young fellow who becomes a tenant farmer when he marries, say, is likely to be a farm owner before his first child is grown—the farm paid for and th money that used to go to pay off the mortgage available for sending the children to college.

Now, to the department of agriculture, that looks like a thoroughly normal, healthy and beneficial process To just the extent that tenancy leads to farm ownership, it is a good thing for the country and for the individual.

Full Answers Essential.

But is has not been possible to get a complete nation-wide survey of the situation. The forthcoming census offers the opportunnty for doing that. If every farmer will answer the enumerator's questions fully and fairly the department of agriculture will have the data from which to analyze the situation and to determine what things can be done to best advantge to help the tenant in his aspiration to become a farm owner.

One of the directions that aid may take is encouragement of rural credits—finding all of the ways possible of helping the young farmer to get the money that he may need to borrow. It is necessary, therefore, to know what proportion of farmers who advance from tenants to owners have to borrow money to make the change, and how much, in proportion to total value of the farms bought, they have to borrow.

The road toward ownership does not necessarily start with tenancy. A great many farm owners were first farm hands ,then tenants, then owners debt free. The census will show, if the questions are answered fairly, how many years, if any, every farmer worked for wages; how many years he was a tenant; and how many years he has been an owner. The department of agriculture will have the basic information it needs to help men to success in farm ownership.

Other Important Queries.

Here are some other questions that will be asked: "Has this farm a telephone?" "Is water piped into the operator's house?" "Has the operator's house gas or electric light?"

Now that looks like an effort to find out whether or not the farm family has the modern house comforts—and it is just that, but it means something more than mere inquisitiveness. Several months ago, when the bureau of farm management was in process of reorganization, the secretary of agriculture called a conference of heads of schools, social workers and others from all over the country. When the people were assembled in Washington he asked their opinion as to the most useful thing that could be done by the office of farm management. For a whole day those people discussed the matter. Just before night, with a score of items on the ballot, they took a vote. The work of promoting the comfort and convenience of the farm home received an overwhelming majority of the votes.

That, then, is one of the things that the department of agriculture is trying to do in aid of the farm population of this country. In order to do the work intelligently the department needs as full information as possible as to how the farm homes of the country are equipped for comfort and convenience.

Another Way to Help.

Every farmer will be asked how many acres of drained land he has and how many other acres of land there are on his farm that could be made suitable for cultivation if they were tile-drained or ditch-drained. When these questions are asked you, remember that they are asked every one of your neighbors. Possibly you have a tract of land that would be the most productive field on your farm if you could get the surplus water out of it, but you cannot do it because, to be effective, the drainage ditch would have to go far beyond the borders of your own farm, would have to be a county enterprise, and the county has not seen fit to do anything about it. If that be true, several of your neighbors have land that should be drained. If all of you tell the census enumerator how many acres you have that need drainage ,the department of agriculture will have the facts to show what is needed in your community. When the opportunity offers, it will be in position to do what it may to secure for you what you need.

Those things are fairly typical of the questions that will be asked in taking the agricultural census. In order to answer all of the questions intelligently, the farmer will have to think about the matter a little before the enumerator calls on him. He ought to give the enumerator the most accurate information he can. What the individual farmer tells the enumerator is likely to benefit the farmer individually, but it is certain to benefit any number of other farmers. It is not too early now to get the facts straight in your mind.

H. C. L. Affects Burglars, Too.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 29.—High cost of living has changed the methods of thieves and burglars here. Instead of stealing jewelry and silverware, burglars are stealing shoes, hams, eggs and bread. During the past week fifty persons whose houses have been burglarized have reported the loss of shoes and foodstuff, but found their valuables intact. "With shoes selling at from $12 to $30 and hams worth $5 it is no wonder that thieves prefer these to a piece of silverware," say the police. "Then the burglar can sell the shoes without suspicion. He gets $5 per pair for them, and if he happens to grab eight or ten pairs while folks are at the movies he has done a good day's work. You can't identify shoes after a second hand dealer has had them five minutes. Folks will have to put their extra shoes in the safety valuts of the bank if they expect to keep them these days."

Last Medicine Man Dead.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Sept. 29.—"Skookum Charlie" Williams, one hundred and nine years old, last of the medicine men of the "People of the Rabbit," is dead on the reserve of his tribe on the Skeena river, ninety miles inland from Prince Rupert. The venerable Indian was once the most powerful medicine man of the coast tribes. His medicine was considered a panacea not only for physical but spiritual ills. He cured the sick, exorcised evil spirits and safeguarded his patrons against the malignant influence of demons and hosts. He grew rich, as Indian wealth is reckoned, by his incantations and his sale of charms and amulets.
